For over 60 years, Coro Southern California has equipped those leading our region with the resources they need to understand how decisions are made, how complex policies are shaped and how to influence meaningful change.

WHAT IS THE CORO FELLOWS PROGRAM?

The Fellows Program in Public Affairs (FPPA) trains exceptionally talented early career professionals to build their leadership skills through meeting and working alongside Southern California’s most influential community members.

Coro Southern California selects twelve Fellows annually from a highly competitive applicant pool for the nine-month, full-time, graduate-level leadership program. Using the city as a classroom, Fellows learn through experience with private, public, and nonprofit decision-makers and work as a group to develop critical thinking, analytical, governance and leadership skills.

Every group has its ultimate challenge, an experience that defines those who participate as among the most talented in their fields. Track and field enthusiasts have the decathlon. Fitness freaks have the Iron Man Triathlon. And aspiring public servants have the Coro Fellows Program.”

KEY PROGRAM FEATURES

The Fellows Program offers something you can’t find anywhere else. Fellows’ training reflects Coro’s unique, civic style of leadership - one that is built on understanding complexity, listening to multiple perspectives and implementing change. Fellows explore the public affairs arena by examining the complicated interplay between individuals, groups, and institutions.

1. FIELD PLACEMENTS

allow Fellows to gain direct exposure to varied sectors and institutions in Los Angeles and offer participants the opportunity to build robust professional networks. Each Fellow completes a government, electoral politics, labor, business, and nonprofit placement and is responsible for delivering a high quality project to each organization at which he/she works.

2. SEMINARS

build self-awareness, inquiry and critical thinking skills and introduce Fellows to tools and frameworks that increase their ability to successfully contribute to or create an effective and collaborative group. Fellows are equipped to build consensus and solve problems across traditionally perceived boundaries using Coro’s methods of systems analysis, fact-finding, project management, communication, and teamwork skills.

3. FOCUS WEEKS

Immerse Fellows in the exploration of a single topic for a full week. Topics vary by year and have included California State Government, Technology and Innovation Economy, Public Finance, Healthcare and more.

APPLICATION

Applications are due January 9th, 2019 and require applicants to submit their resume and transcript, complete three essays, and provide two letters of recommendation.
